Bounce Into September... ...with a good spring clean!

We are often surprised by what's surplus to our needs when we get the chance for a good out clean out around the house, backyard or out-buildings. Advertise your surplus for free under offerings in our on-line directory on the CES site so our members can see and while you're there add any of your wants. When you've sold one-off items like 2nd hand goods be sure to delete them from your offerings online so you're not getting repetitive calls for it and do the same when your wants have been filled. If you are not online, phone our office to request any offers/wants to be deleted or updated. Two* things to think about for spring clean days.

*NEXT GREEN $ MARKET - Sat Sept 24 9.30am - 12.30pm

Regular spot at the Senior Citizens Hall in the main street of Carterton. With good outside space a stall of your surplus items is a great way to get the numbers moving up in your G$ account. Catch up with new and existing members as well as attract members of the public into being your customers. Plus there's always some tempting morsels to munch, great gift ideas and practical house-hold items to spend your WAIS vouchers or Green $ on.

If you have a high above zero balance it would be most encouraging to our members to see you at the markets. You can mention any of your new wants and we can take note to find a match for you. As well as the trades recorded on the days market sheets, many more trades are generated through the associations at these gatherings. New wants and needs come up in the conversations and often new memberships can come from various contacts or sales made at the markets.

WAIS August

Hurling towards springtime and daylight saving, many of us may be left wondering how the month of August seemed to whizz by so fast. Many local events and activities happened in this time. With our Featherston market was also the Rags market in the Town Hall, Made In Wairarapa Expo at the Genesis Centre and Home Growers weekly market in Carterton. All of these events are well worth supporting, they promote local trade in our community and let the public see just how much talent, goods and services are available in the Wairarapa region and our own backyard.

Past WAIS member-now located in the very successful Golden Bay H.A.N.D.S. network, Lawrence Boomert, gets his audience to grips with what's happening in the global economy. Lawrence came up to promote the NZ edition of "Fleeing Vesuvius" at the book launch in Almos bookshop in Carterton on the 18th. With 39 contributors it's a practical and fundamentally optimistic read brought to us through Living Economies. It was also a chance for Lawrence to catch up with old friends and WAIS comrades including Helen Dew. With over 700 memberships H.A.N.D.S now has 10% of their region in their trading exchange. Of course they are still growing too, proving many HANDS make light work!!

To all our busy members who have stalls at other markets and events if you would like to help grow WAIS please contact our office before your event. We can give you your Green $ name sign to put on the table and a set of WAIS vouchers to display with it. These make great conversation starters for the general public. A market sales sheet for any WAIS customers is also good to have on hand (can also be downloaded from our website).

At the Made in Wairarapa Expo two WAIS men were entertaining and teaching the steady stream of people going through. Eric Haskell (above centre) makes Trick Sticks juggling equipment and shows adults and children how to master the art of it - which all comes down to simple rhythm control. Most people are surprised by just how easy it is to get the hang of it and it's a great confidence booster for the kids. Meanwhile our internationally acclaimed potter & sculptor, Samual Ludden (above right) was getting his fingers dirty showing us how he crafts his pieces and inviting the public to have a go. He had a great display of his sculptures and pottery. If you missed it and are looking for some original gift ideas or want some nice cups or pottery art at home, check out his Dirty Fingers Studio in Victoria Street, Masterton. WAIS member Claudia Morgan and children (Euan and Linda) found time to check out Sams' demonstration and wares.

Featherston Community Centre Market

Featherstone Community Centre Manager Murray Clarkson (above left) who was looking forward to catching up with our Green team was instead called out to work on the day of our market. Sunny and spacious this people-friendly centre in Wakefield St sees more than 200 people a week passing through their doors. Being a WAIS organization as well the Centre is our only market venue that accepts W$ for our space hire. We welcomed Peggy Duncan (centre, in above right) to her first WAIS market as a stall-holder. Peggy had an assortment of items for sale including organic eggs, produce and packets of cards. She has a certified organic garden at her residence in Greytown.

Alana Moss (above left) had a cosy corner set up with Nanas 'WAIS-known' knitwear. It was great to see her back among us Greenies again carrying on the family trading tradition. Alana has been in the WAIS network since infancy. Tanya, Alana's Mum, has been coming to Green Dollar gatherings with her Mum, Glenyss (one of the founding members) since she was 11. Some of our members from Masterton, Carterton and Greytown (above right).

Jan Machin (seated above left) comes over the hill from Tawa for markets with her clothing and linens. To any "blushing brides-to-be" out there in WAIS-Land, Jan also has "Spotlight" her bridal wear business, so she is well worth having a chat with. In the same photo, Peggy (right) tries out some tasty chocolate marble cake from Debbie Yoi (left).

Jayne Routhan (right) always has a colourful display of artistic items on offer at markets. They are hand-painted and unique while also inexpensive and practical. If you get there in time you can try out her scones and then you'll want to take a couple home for afters.

*WAIS WORKERS & EQUIPMENT... ...Your helping hands

A great way to halve the workload and speed up the tasks at hand. Do you need to hire a trailer to take your rubbish, recyclables or garden refuse to the tip? Do you need one to pick up or deliver traded goods? Do you need someone to move furniture or give a hand with your cleaning chores? Do you have items for sale but not the Saturday morning free to man your own stall at market? Do you need your house water-blasted or spouting cleaned out? Painting and decorating? Window washing? A tidy up in your garden or some springtime planting help? Do you need compost or manure for your gardens? Could you do with hiring a mulcher or the services of a mini digger? Do you need a fence put up or a gate made? Fancy some mosaic pavers outside? Do you need a regular lawn mower? Maybe a helping hand with the growing ironing pile? Installation and electrical work? We have experienced traders willing and able to cover all these and many more areas. They enjoy the work they have as offers in our trading pool because it's their choice to do those jobs. Ring the office 377 0717 and leave a message with your requirements.
